My Future Plan of Life/My Aim In Life

A proverb goes that a man without an aim is like a ship without a rudder. Similarly a man without an aim can not reach his goal. He stumbles in his way of life. So everyman should have a definite aim. But nothing is more difficult that the choice of a profession. Students find it very difficult to choose a suitable profession because there are many paths and courses open to them.

Different persons have different aims. Some want to be doctors, some want to be engineers and others want to be teachers and son on. My aim in life is to be a doctor. My parents and teachers have given their consent to my choice. There are many reasons for choosing the profession of a doctor. The village people in our country are very poor. They suffer from various diseases but there is no qualified doctor to serve them. There are a few quacks but they cannot serve them properly. Rather they extort money from the simple folks. Many people meet untimely death for want of proper treatment. So I have decided to serve the people of my village through this profession.

I am now a student of class nine. I am preparing myself well to be a doctor. After passing SSC and HSC with brilliant result, I shall myself admitted into a Medical Collage. After obtaining the M.B.B.S degree, I shall go back to my native village and set myself to serve my village people through practice.

Since my boyhood it was may cherished desire to serve the nation, I shall render free service to the poor villagers. I shall not take money from them. It is my determination to set up a charitable dispensary and distribute medicines to the poor free of cost. I have also a plan to set up a hospital with a few beds for serious cases. I shall stop the practice of the quack.

Success in life depends much on the proper choice of a profession. I believe that I shall be able to reach my goal and serve the nation.
